

Ike Learns It's Impossible To Keep Foot Out Of Mouth

WASHINGTON, June 6 — (AP)—Now Dwight D. Eisenhower knows how it feels to be in politics where they get you coming and going and you are damned if you do and damned if you don't.

Eisenhower made his first political speech Wednesday and the words were hardly out of his mouth before he began to be criticized for not being more specific. His supporters, of course, praised him.

Thursday he tried to be more specific by answering directly some of the questions pitched at him by more than 250 reporters at his first political news conference. He had hardly finished when trouble began.

The retired general was asked where he stood on a compulsory FEPC—Fair Employment Practices Commission—a subject important to Negroes but a bitter thought to Southern white politicians.

Eisenhower said: "I believe we can do more by leadership and by getting the states to do so than by making it a federal law or compulsory thing."

Almost at once Southern Democrats in Congress, long angry at the Trumanites for urging FEPC, began to praise the general. One of them even said he was sorry Eisenhower wasn't on the Democratic side.

But the answer didn't satisfy the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which wants a federal FEPC law covering all states.

NAACP's Executive Secretary, Walter White, promptly wired Eisenhower:

"The failure of 37 of the states to take any affirmative action to assure equality of job opportunity points to the urgency of the need for federal action in this area."

"In view of this alarming failure, we urge you to reconsider today's statement in the light of your affirmation of unalterable support of fairness among all citizens."

In view of the intense feeling of Negroes and Southern whites about FEPC, Eisenhower's position, if displeasing to the Negroes, will cost him Negro votes although capturing Southern white votes.

In the South, where the overwhelming majority of voters are white, the electoral college vote this year may be of the utmost importance to the men running for the presidency.

Until now Eisenhower has been a glamorous figure to Americans who have admired him as a military leader but could hardly know much about his political and social views, because he never said much.

The fact that he has been able to roll up so much support, saying as little as he did in a political way, has been a miracle of modern American politics.

And now that he is forced to open his mouth, he cannot help but to put his foot in it—with one stratum of society or another.

Taft Thinks Ike Helping Ohioan

Senator Believes General's Talks In Kansas Booms Buckeye Stock

CINCINNATI, June 6 — (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio believes his chances for the Republican presidential nomination have been improved since Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's speech in Kansas Wednesday.

The Ohio senator didn't elaborate but that was the answer he gave to a question put to him Thursday night on the radio program, "Reporters' Roundup."

Discussion of Gen. Eisenhower's speech also brought a statement from Taft that he had the impression the general favors repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

"The implication is that he favors the repeal of the act," Taft said. "That seems to be the necessary conclusion."

Taft added, however, that "I hope that I'm wrong in my understanding of what Gen. Eisenhower said." He reiterated his belief that the law "is the most effective way today of stopping strikes."

Taft, Kefauver Cry 'Me-Too' Against FCC

WASHINGTON, June 6 — (AP)—That ugly word, "me-too," was being shouted angrily Friday by two presidential candidates, Sen. Robert A. Taft and Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Taft has appealed to the Federal Communications Commission for a nationwide radio-TV hookup such as the three major networks gave Dwight D. Eisenhower's Abilene address.

Taft and Eisenhower are the top contenders for the Republican presidential nomination.

Kefauver, who is seeking the Democratic nomination, has similarly protested the refusal of CBS to give him the same amount of time it gave Eisenhower.

Taft told the FCC in a letter Thursday that the Columbia, National and American Broadcasting Systems had turned down his request for a simultaneous half-hour over the three networks at the same time of day Eisenhower spoke. That was 6 to 6:30 p. m.

NBC officials said in New York they were "still discussing" the matter. ABC and CBS officials could not be reached for comment.

Panmunjom Talks Still Stalemated

MUNSA, June 6 — (AP)—Allied truce negotiators said Friday the UN Command never will follow the path of "betrayal, force and bloodshed" by bowing to Red demands for blanket repatriation of some 170,000 Allied-held war prisoners.

The prisoner issue is blocking negotiations at Panmunjom for a Korean armistice. Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief UN delegate, said acceptance of the Communist proposal would "mean an abandonment of the principle of human rights."

Western Union Asks Rate Hike

WASHINGTON, June 6 — (AP)—The Western Union Telegraph Co. petitioned the government Friday for authority to raise its domestic message and money order rates 9.3 per cent.

It said the boost is needed to pay its employees more money. The company posted the proposed higher rates with the Federal Communications Commission, fixing July 6 as the effective date of the boost.

ACCORD IN STEEL STRIKE EXPECTED TO COME SOON

Potatoes Scarce Here Despite End of Control

Price May Go Up Before Going Down Many Predict

"Yes, we have no potatoes" still seemed to be the song of the day around Washington C. H. grocery stores despite the government order lifting price controls on all spuds.

According to a spot check by the Record-Herald, some grocers expect shipments to start coming in Saturday.

Confirming predictions of rising prices in AP reports, retail prices on spuds here shot up to about 59 cents for five pounds as compared to the old ceiling price of 39 cents for five pounds.

Spokesmen for two grocery wholesale establishments in Washington C. H. also confirmed AP reports that the potato shortage would ease up in a few weeks and that price would drop.

Neither wholesale house expected to get any potatoes in for at least a couple of weeks.

Quite a few housewives set out early Friday morning for downtown Washington C. H. in quest of spuds, but not many of them had much luck unless they were old customers at a store which had managed to keep a few on hand throughout the shortage period.

According to a spokesman for one of the wholesale houses, the current potato market is in South and North Carolina where he said shipments are "so far behind" he did not expect to get any spuds in for a "couple of weeks."

A spokesman at another wholesale house said he expected prices to come down as soon as the growers start digging them and when the home grown variety appear on the market in July.

In a spot check of five downtown stores in Washington C. H., the Record-Herald only found one that had potatoes in its bins.

While talking with one store clerk, the Record-Herald reporter's conversation was interrupted by four housewives who came in to inquire about potatoes.

Potato Price Controls Ended by Government

WASHINGTON, June 6 — (AP)—Predictions that the potatoes soon will be back in grocery bins followed the government's action Thursday in cancelling price controls on potatoes.

Price officials and produce men alike said that before the potato price goes down, it will probably go up. A produce buyer for a large eastern store chain said:

"A lot of speculators are going to get caught with high-priced spuds, and when the dumping begins, these abnormal prices will soon become history. Three more weeks should see plenty of potatoes in most stores."

He said it would be "interesting to watch" what happens to potato prices, but refused to make any predictions.

Other officials said potatoes have been almost impossible to buy in retail stores in many areas.

THEY GUESSED there would be a sharp price increase, probably dropping off late this month and in July, when the 1952 crop hits the market.

Ellis Arnall, chief of the Office of Price Stabilization, said OPS decided to remove the ceiling over potato prices because the Senate had voted to do so, effective July 1.

Although the Senate vote would not become law unless concurred in by the House and approved by the President, Arnall said it would be impossible to administer potato

Contracts Will Be Awarded Immediately On Low Bids For New Hospital Addition

Preliminary work in connection with the construction of the new addition to the Fayette County Memorial Hospital may start within the next ten days or two weeks.

This was the essence of information which developed at a meeting of the hospital board members, Curtis Incho, the architect, the administrator, and representatives of the medical and surgical staff, at the hospital Thursday night following a unanimous agreement on acceptance of the low bids received Thursday afternoon.

The county commissioners did not attend Thursday night's session because during Thursday afternoon while in session with hospital board members, the architect and Miss Christine Evans, administrator, an agreement was reached regarding acceptance of bids. The action by the hospital board Thursday night was in the nature of necessary legal steps including the passage of resolutions requesting the commissioners to prepare and sign necessary contracts. This will be done with the assistance of Architect Incho, who also will act as supervisor of the construction work.

THE WASHINGTON C. H. contracting firm, Sever-Williams Co., was the low bidder on the general contract and will be awarded the work.

The bids covering this feature of the expansion program were as follows: Sever-Williams Co., a total of $79,712; Virgil Bowers, Bainbridge, total of $86,375; J. H. Butt Co., Inc., Chillicothe, total $86,812.

Bids on plumbing, heating and ventilating equipment and installation were: Huffman Wolfe Co., Dayton, total $20,800; Wiser and Gabler, Chillicothe, total $23,300; Accurate and Adequate Plumbing and Supplies, Washington C. H., plumbing and material only, total $38,856.58. The Huffman-Wolfe Co. will be awarded the contract on their lowest bid.

The wiring and other electrical work was bid upon as follows: Lynchburg Electric Co., Lynchburg, Ohio, total of $10,674; Duffy Electric Company, Chillicothe, $11,085; Ernest Snyder Electric Service, Washington C. H., total of $12,540.22. The Lynchburg Company will be awarded the contract as lowest bidder.

The three winning companies to which the hospital board asked the commissioners to award contracts were not only lowest bidders, but are all contractors who worked on the present hospital building in their types on construction work and are therefore familiar with the whole institution from its beginning.

THE TOTAL AMOUNT of bids on which contracts are to be made was $111,186. The balance of the money from the $125,000 bond issue approved by voters for this expansion, will cover, equipment and some furnishings, architect's fees and contingencies that arise in the course of construction and equipping the new wing.

The expansion, when completed, will give the hospital here a total of 72 beds, with ability to expand to 83 beds in an emergency. It will also result in increased normal capacity on many occasions, necessitating placing patients in the corridors.

No Tunnels Found

KOJE ISLAND, June 6 — (AP)—Army engineers dug holes around a prisoner compound holding North Korean officers Friday in a check for possible escape tunnels. They found none.

The new addition which will start at the end of the medical and surgical department and run in a southwestern direction parallel with the wing housing the maternity section, will allow for more private rooms and will have some conveniences and space advantages which few hospitals constructed in recent years, possess.

This addition will give the whole hospital a compactness and complete modern equipment, which will aid in continued efficient operation.

Architect Incho said during Thursday night's meeting that his investigation indicated that there would be no difficulties about obtaining materials for the new construction.

A prompt start on the work has led board members and management to express hope that the new wing can be completed by the end of this year.

Ike-Backers Say Nomination In Bag

General's Friends Are Jubilant After Appearances In Kansas

ABILENE, June 6 — (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower headed for New York Friday, prepared to step up his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination with another round of conferences and personal interviews.

The sessions in Abilene, Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.) said, caused "national sentiment to shift toward Ike."

Carlson, a leader in the Eisenhower campaign, said the events in Abilene won over to the general some delegates who previously had been supporting Sen. Robert A. Taft, one of the leading contenders for the GOP nomination.

Carlson said Eisenhower's organization in Abilene received messages from all parts of the country after the speech he made on Wednesday and the news conference held Thursday.

These were the highlights of a welcome-home celebration, designed to dramatize Eisenhower's personal entry into the campaign.

BACKERS claimed the results exceeded their expectations.

"I can say definitely that some delegates who came here as Taft men are now for Eisenhower," Carlson said. "I know them."

The national picture has so changed in Eisenhower's favor, the senator continued, that "I'm not so sure now a second ballot will be necessary" at the GOP nominating convention which opens in Chicago July 7. The inference was that Eisenhower would be nominated on the first ballot.

In New York, Eisenhower expected to confer with Gov. John Fine of Pennsylvania and possibly with Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland.

White House Negotiations Show Promise

Industry Asks Recess To Study Proposals Made During Parley

WASHINGTON, June 6 — (AP)—Success was seen in the offing Friday for the White House-sponsored talks in the steel strike.

Negotiators for both the union and industry met again under the chairmanship of John R. Steelman, President Truman's assistant, and then recessed until afternoon.

The recess was taken by industry representatives to study bargaining proposals.

Steelman reported that "real negotiations are going on."

A four-hour recess was requested by Board Chairman Ben Morrell of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Co., head of the management negotiating team.

Steelman said Philip Murray, head of the 650,000 striking CIO United Steelworkers, readily agreed to the recess.

Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona told the Senate Thursday night there might be a settlement over the weekend.

THE SENATE then put aside until Monday all legislation dealing with the strike.

Steelman wasn't so specific.

"I certainly am not pessimistic," Steelman told newsmen, "but I wouldn't want to overstate my optimism."

Steelman said both sides had been discussing intensively all the complex issues involved. The walk-out started Monday after the Supreme Court voided Truman's seizure of the steel industry. More than 100,000 mine, rail and other workers also have been idled by the steel shutdown.

The first break in the nationwide strike came late Thursday with announcement that the Detroit Steel Corp. had reached a contract agreement with the steelworkers, covering 4,500 employees.

Details of the agreement, negotiated in Pittsburgh, were not announced. A district union official said it embodied Wage Stabilization Board recommendations.

These called for a "package" wage increase amounting to 26 cents an hour by next January.

In the Washington talks, it was reliably reported the union shop—also recommended by the wage board—was the subject of the most bitter dispute. This would require all steelworkers to join the union after being hired.

STEELMAN SAID there had been "give and take" on both sides. Asked if new settlement proposals had been offered, Steelman said:

"Yes, you can't negotiate all day without making some proposals. . . They're negotiating with each other openly and above board, without any reference as to price."

Steelman reiterated Truman's comment of some time ago that when an agreement was reached, the subject of a price boost to compensate for wage increases would be discussed. The industry has said it would need a $12 a ton raise in the price of steel, now selling at $110 a ton, to meet the union's demands.

Steelman, after stressing that steel production must be quickly resumed, stayed out of the bargaining talks, leaving the union and industry men to work out their own solution.

Unusual Event Set for Monday

Field Day Planned For Young People

A unique six-county Field Day for 4-H clubs and Future Farmers of America chapters is to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Duff and sons on the Waterloo Pike, about four miles east of Washington C. H., Monday.

A feature of the event is to be "The Farmer's Hired Men"—a pageant in four episodes. It is designed to show how the modern farm family uses off-the-farm business to make farming more profitable and farm life more enjoyable.

The Duff family is to be the central figure of the pageant. W. W. Montgomery, the county agent here said, Most of the rest of the cast is to be made up of young people of the two participating organizations.

Broadly, Montgomery said, the pageant will spotlight the part in rural life played by such organizations as the cooperatives, the rural farm organizations, National Farm Loan Association, the Columbus Production Credit Association and the Fayette County Dairy Service unit.

THE FIELD DAY is to start at 10 A. M. and continue through the afternoon.

Everyone is expected to bring a "sack lunch" and the farm cooperatives serving this area are to provide the refreshments and beverages.

The event is sponsored by the American Institute of Cooperation. Similar Field Days are being staged by the institute in 15 other Ohio localities.

Invited to take part are the sophomore, junior and senior members of FFA chapters, all 4-H club members over 14 years of age, FFA advisors, 4-H club leaders and members of the Extension Service staffs.

The counties in this area are Pickaway, Madison, Ross, Franklin, Fairfield and Fayette. All of them are expected to send sizeable delegations.

Robert Smithers of Circleville is the chairman and Merle Thomas of the Farm Bureau in Columbus is the co-chairman.

R. A. Phillips, London vo-ag teacher, is the secretary and Ben Glover of the Fayette County Farm Bureau is the treasurer.

Scioto-Sandusky Plan Hits New Snag

Considerable interest centers here in an attack on the official flood control plan of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District which reached the Ohio Supreme Court Friday.

The project has already cost Fayette County taxpayers in excess of $8,000 for preliminary plans, and so far as known, the project does not mean anything to Fayette County, inasmuch as no dams or other phases of it would touch this county.

Outcome of the action taken Friday will be watched with interest over the entire district.

Prosecutors of Union and Delaware County appealed from an appellate court decision upholding the official plan which contemplates construction of dams and flood control projects in the district. The plan, objectors claim, makes a "no-man's land" of 8,500 acres in Delaware and Union counties.

Counties in the district are Fayette, Pickaway, Scioto, Pike, Highland, Ross, Madison, Franklin, Morrow, Marion, Wyandot, Crawford, Vinton, Seneca and Sandusky, in addition to Delaware and Union.

Four Bankers Here At State Convention

J. Roush Burton, president of the First National Bank here, today was back at the normal day's business affairs after having spent the biggest part of three days and evenings attending sessions of the Ohio Bankers Association in Columbus.

Burton, as chairman of group 4 of the association, which is comprised of 13 southern Ohio counties, is a member of the council of administration, which amounts to a board of directors. He went to the convention Tuesday, a day ahead of the scheduled opening of the two-day gathering, for the council's meeting.

He also attended most of the sessions and discussion groups both Wednesday and Thursday.

Three other officers of the bank—Albert R. Bryant, the vice president and cashier; Robert H. Olinger, assistant cashier, and J. William Wallace, assistant cashier—went to Columbus for the customary banquet Wednesday night.

Prominent figures in banking were introduced at the banquet and a quintet that entertains under the name of "The White Guard" preceded the principal address of the evening by Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant of the General Motors Corp.

The convention was held in the Neil House.

Hereford Sale Here Saturday

Breeders To Come
From Several States

Everything, except the last minute details, today was in readiness for the 15th semi-annual auction sale of the Fayette County Hereford Association at the sales pavilion on the Fairground, Saturday.

The first of the 72 lots is scheduled to enter the sales ring at 1 P. M.

But, prospective buyers and Hereford fanciers and breeders will have an opportunity to look them over in the morning when the show is held, starting at 10 o'clock.

To pave the way for the sale and to show the visiting breeders a sample of Fayette County hospitality, an informal dinner is to be held Friday evening at the Country Club. Out-of-state visitors are to be guests of the association of which Emerson Marting is the president, Walter Seifried, the vice president and Sam B. Marting, the secretary-treasurer.

Seventeen members of the association have consigned registered Herefords to the sale. One of the consignors is a newcomer in the purebred Hereford field—L. C. Coffman and Harold Hewitt, whose herd is on the Coffman farm on the Robinson Road.

OTHER CONSIGNORS are Bea-Mar Farms (Sam Marting) Braun & Beasley, Will G. Braun, Preston Dray, Elray Farms (Ray Brandenburg), Fayette Hereford Ranch (Walter Seifried), Roy Griffith, Irel Knedler & Son, Emerson Marting, Homer L. McCoy & Son, Fred Morr, Baldwin Rice and Shaper, Spring Grove Hereford Farm (Harry McGee), Alvin Writsel and H. W. Zimmerman.

Breeders and cattle feeders from all over Ohio and more than half a dozen states have indicated that they are coming to the sale; for Fayette County Herefords have gained a wide reputation.

Among the men prominent in the Hereford business who are to be here are L. P. McCann of the American Hereford Association; Forrest Penn of the American Hereford Journal; Louis A. Fister of the Kentucky Association; Wilbur McCoy, vice president of the Ohio Hereford Association and Carl Shanks, secretary of the Ohio Association. Ray Brandenburg of Washington C. H. is the president of the state association.

Emerson Marting of Fayette County and A. W. Hamilton are to be the auctioneers and Sam B. Marting is the sales manager.

THOSE FREE SWIMMING LESSONS ARE soon going to have the Washington Park Swimming pool filled with a lot of real good swimmers. Already with the air still on the cool side, 20 to 25 beginners (small group shown above) are learning the fundamentals from Mrs. Robert Green (instructing above) every morning from 10 to 11 o'clock. No sooner do they get out than about 20 in the intermediate class and as many more in the advanced class plunge in for an hour of lessons. Only two or three adults have been showing up at noon. Interest in swimming is greater than expected in view of the weather. Attendance at the pool averages about 300 a day, Fred Pierson, the manager, said. Up to Thursday noon, 331 master memberships and 565 associate memberships had been issued. By the end of last season, 400 master memberships had been issued. (Record-Herald photo)

THE PRICE OF A SMILE

It costs you nothing
So give it away
It will make some one
Happy, light hearted and gay.

It takes but a moment
To give a sweet smile
And the memory of it
Will linger a long, long while.

And no one needs a smile
As bad as they who do not give it
So smile and smile and smile
And put your whole heart in it.

A smile you cannot buy
Neither can you steal one.
Now you just try
To twist your face and give one.

Korean Bishop Is To Speak at Grace Church

Bishop Hyunki J. Lew, a Methodist Episcopal Church leader in Korea, will be the guest speaker at Grace Methodist Church here at the 10:30 A. M. worship service Sunday.

Bishop Lew has just arrived in this country from Korea for the general conference of the Methodist Church in San Francisco. He will speak also at the Ohio Annual Conference at Lakeside, June 10.

He tells of many Red atrocities. Bishop Lew said in a recent address: "The Communists in North Korea overnight 'liquidated' 40 ministers, including a native Methodist bishop."

Practically all Methodist churches in Korea which were located in the wake of the war have been destroyed, said the bishop.

CONTINUING, HE SAID, "You have every right to be proud of your more than 200,000 GI's in Korea. On the whole they are the most generous and soft-hearted and helpful men there."

Bishop Lew declared that out of Korea's 30,000,000 population, the war has claimed the lives of 2,000,000 and that 8,000,000 refugees from the north have jammed into the south. Hunger is rampant in North Korea where there are 6,000,000 undergoing starvation, he said.

Bishop Lew will give much interesting data in his message at Grace Methodist Church next Sunday morning, Rev. Allan W. Caley, the belief that Bishop Lew would relate some of his personal experiences and give some close-up word pictures of conditions in war-torn Korea, his native land.

Greenfield Plans To Buy Old Quarry

The Greenfield council is considering purchase of the old Rucker stone quarry and use it for recreation purposes.

The proposal is now being studied with a view to early action.

Six acres immediately south of the old quarry also is being sought for park purposes.

The Rucker quarry is located on the east side of Paint Creek, immediately south of the long trestle of the B&O Railroad which spans Paint Creek and its narrow valley at Greenfield.

Highland County health officials have been asked to make a check in connection with the proposed purchase.

which the zoning commission has recommended for the ordinance before its final adoption.

The changes desired have been under discussion and indications are that within a short time the zoning ordinance will be adopted and the city will have a definite plan to go by.

Oddly enough the present controversy is over what areas will permit certain types of livestock.

How Much Do You Know About Hidden Taxes?

It seems unfortunate that so much talk and so much writing has to be done regarding taxes at the present time, but as one Washington C. H. man said a few days ago, "If we do not keep protesting and informing people, the big-wigs in the government keep taking it for granted that heavy taxes don't bother people because they think they are getting more money."

As a fact not one taxpayer in a hundred suspects how much hidden taxes are adding to the things he buys. All this adds up to growing inflation.

These hidden taxes, for the most part, are in addition to the heavy income and other taxes all of us have to pay. The people who are living on a comparatively small fixed income are hit hardest by the inflationary spiral.

One business man in this community said the other day that when a customer walks into a showroom and lays out $2,000 for a new auto, as an example, over $600 of the total price he pays already has stuck to the fingers of federal, state and local tax collectors. Some of it is paid direct at the time of purchase, some hidden in material and in the processes of manufacture.

One Fayette County man made the startling statement recently that when a car owner pays the average price of about 26 cents per gallon for gas, approximately half of that price, sometimes more, goes into taxes. It is not the immediate federal and state taxes alone, which he pays on a gallon of gas, but certain hidden taxes from the oil field through the refinery, taxes which the average individual knows little, if anything, about.

On numerous other items including milk, meat, bread and other necessities, direct and hidden taxes come to almost half the cost of the product.

Today the average American is turning over about 32 cents of every dollar he earns to one type of tax collector or another. On a $3,500 annual income, this means that an average family pays $799 in hidden taxes—in addition of course to income taxes which amount to another $299 approximately.

It is widely agreed that a tax load of 25 cents on the average citizen's dollar is about as high as a government can safely go. Above that point taxes push up prices and sap incentive. They make a man think twice before risking his cash to make a profit. Unduly heavy taxes dry up and scare off the flow of equity capital into new plants, equipment and products—the foundation of our industries and their future growth.

We are already approximately seven cents past the danger line.

Business The Key

There is nothing more interesting or important in these times than what is grouped under the general designation of business. Production and availability of goods and services are principal factors in the nation's economy.

To bring to the people the necessities of life as well as luxuries is the purpose of business. No figures are watched more closely than those contained in the weekly business index. Sales volume and price fluctuations disclose trends to both manufacturer and retailer.

When government attempts to regulate either or both the entire economy is handicapped. Laws against monopolies are necessary, but the government should go little further than that if business is to operate in an orderly and profitable manner.

Under present conditions no business, large or small, can be certain what rules may be imposed upon it tomorrow or next week. But who would deny that the entire welfare of the nation depends upon progress business is permitted to make?

Like Giving Up Your Baby

NEW YORK—(U)—How much real democracy is there among dog lovers?

Quite a bit, according to Bartender Bill O'Brien, who forked over $50 to a customer for a puppy that looked like a four-legged gray mop and has turned out to be a blue ribbon show dog.

I have written about Bill before. He's a big ex-Army sergeant who blew the alarm bugle at Pearl Harbor.

O'Brien is night maestro at Moriarty's Midtown Bar and Grill, an establishment two doors from Toot Shor's that has become a rendezvous for newspapermen, dancers, singers, actors, and musicians.

One of his customers was Pat Hanrahan, an electrician who brought in one or two of the schnauzer dogs he raises as a sideline.

"I just got dog hungry looking at them," confessed Bill. He finally bought a male pup from Pat for $50 and figured it was a real bargain as schnauzers, a kind of long-haired German terrier, are growing in popularity in America and easily bring $75 to $125.

The eight-week-old ugly puppy looked like a handful of dirty strings with bright eyes. Bill named him Mike Murphy.

"He grew so fast he was getting bow-legged and down in the hocks, so I began stuffing him with calcium pills," said Bill.

"But he had lots of spirit—he was no deadhead." Mike Murphy perked up so fast showed such carriage, that dog-wise customers at the bar urged Bill to enter him in a dog show. At first O'Brien held off, thinking that such honors were for the pets of millionaires rather than bartenders.

But he finally decided Mike Murphy ought to have his chance in the world. He paid a professional handler a small sum to give him a week's training. Mike was entered in the Westminster Kennel Club Show in Madison Square Garden last February which is the world series of dog, dom.

Mike Murphy, still really a puppy, strutted out to win the first prize for American-bred standard Schnauzers.

Overwhelmed by this victory, Bill entered Mike soon after in another top-flight metropolitan canine show. But Mike, still growing fast, had become underweight for his size. He placed fourth.

That has put Bill in a spot. He figures he let his dog down by entering him too soon in his second show, but he doesn't want to turn Mike over to trainers who see him as a potential best-of-breed champion.

"I'd like to see him win another blue ribbon," Bill said, "just to make it up to him—to see he gets a square deal."

"But the handlers say they want a month to train him for his next show. Well, schnauzers are supposed to be one-man dogs, but Mike is friendly to everybody."

"If he is gone a month, he will no longer be my dog. It would be like giving up your own baby." O'Brien doesn't want to kick his dog around, but he doesn't want to lose Mike by glamorizing him into a professional canine prizewinner.

"After all, he's my dog," said Bill. "I don't want to turn him into a child star. I'd like to keep him unspoiled."

Intention Good, Execution Futile

John Foster Dulles was taken into the State Department as part of the so-called bipartisan foreign policy which he and Senator Vandenberg invented. The invention was good but the execution was futile. The Republicans were never actually consulted on major questions until consultation had lost all meaning. On China questions there was no consultation.

There can be no criticism of the president or Dean Acheson for going his own way, which is the president's privilege; on the other hand, there was no sense in calling a one-way policy, bipartisan.

John Foster Dulles did manage to handle our affairs with Japan, leading to the Japanese treaty, which he wrote. Having seen that document through to ratification, he resigned from the State Department and now he is no longer bipartisan. Under certain circumstances, he may be our next Secretary of State, and therefore, it is important that he be recently said in a speech:

"... The trouble is not so much what we have done, but what we have left undone. In the main, we have merely reacted sporadically to Soviet actions which pricked us. Our policies have not the scope, quality or competent execution needed to thwart the proclaimed and operating program of Soviet Communism. Also our policies have been too costly. We have paid too much for too little."

Roads cost money and even where special gasoline taxes have been levied to build new roads, extend and maintain existing roads, the politicians have a way of diverting the money to other uses. Again, the fact that a road is once built does not mean the end of the cost to the taxpayer; it is, in fact, only the beginning of an expensive civic operation.

Complicating this problem is the increasing concentration of population in and around big cities. Road building has not kept up with the shifting population.

Thus, we have a problem which cannot be neglected as long as the loss of life each summer is so great. The Fourth of July and Labor Day have become days of tragedy and the big story on the morning after is always the toll of life on the road.

Efforts are being made by various associations to train drivers. The program for high school driver education is a valuable contribution. About 2,000,000 boys and girls reach driving age each year and most of them have already had their hands on a wheel. The courses in driving now being given in some high schools have proved of great value, if in nothing else than to discourage reckless discourtesy on the road.

Booklets, advertisements, billboards and other devices are being used to encourage sane driving. But it would seem that the problem is still the road itself. The outmoded highway is a menace, just as double parking in the cities is a menace to human safety.

The real cure apparently lies in articulated systems of highways, wide enough to bear the brunt of modern transportation, with separations to protect each lane of traffic. That will not safeguard the good driver from the slow one, who is a road hazard, or the over-anxious driver, or the one-armed driver whose girl sits too close to him and yaps all the time. But improved, wide roads, will help.

Many object to the increased number of toll stations on the roads. Yet, the general evidence is that tolls provide the best way of financing new and expanding road projects. On the basis of toll-collecting experience, it is possible to make loans or issue bonds guaranteed by the road itself. It is even possible to take the load off taxes altogether. Some toll roads are so profitable that they provide surplus funds for other projects. The toll road may solve the problem of providing funds for needed highways.

This much is certain: our roads are fast becoming so congested, at specific hours of the day and during certain holiday seasons, that they defeat the purpose for which they exist. Bumper-to-bumper driving is not rapid transit. It is not good for the car. It is not good for the nerves of the driver. It increases the number of accidents.

This is the time of the year to think on this subject, because the peaks of accidents are July 4th and Labor Day. One group working on this problem is the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee, consisting of automobile manufacturers. Other organizations, such as the A. A. A., work from different standpoints. But it remains a citizen's problem.

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Everyone who reads the newspapers knows that blood transfusions have been life-savers in many different kinds of cases—from the newborn "blue baby" to the wounded soldier in the field.

Transfusion has become one of our most valuable medical treatments since we have discovered new and better ways of preparing and handling blood. Now we are also learning to reduce the hazards of receiving blood.

Many Medical Uses

There are many medical uses for blood transfusions. One, of course, is to replace blood lost in certain serious conditions, such as severe hemorrhage. Supplying blood to a vein has been life-saving in certain diseases where the blood has low clotting ability. This is seen where there is a lack of platelets and other clotting substances in the blood—and in hemophilia, a condition that produces unmanageable bleeding.

In addition, transfusions are used to increase the oxygen in the blood in such conditions as hemorrhage, anemia, and severe poisoning.

Supplies Proteins

Blood can also be of great value in making up a lack of proteins in the body. This condition is found in severe liver disease, and disorders of the kidneys and bowel (ulcerative colitis.)

The transfusion method is helpful against certain severe infections that do not respond to the usual treatments. It seems that a blood transfusion may carry the necessary antibodies to fight the infection.

Certain Risks

A patient who receives blood runs certain risks of allergic reactions, which make it undesirable to give a transfusion unless there is an actual medical need for it. The person with such a reaction can run a high fever, break out in a rash, and become quite ill.

Recently it has been found that adding an antihistamine drug to the blood as it is given prevents many of the severe allergic reactions. This makes it safer to use a transfusion when needed, and helps remove fears on the part of the patient.

Blood Transfusions Valuable Medical Aid

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

V. A. M.: How contagious is leprosy?

Answer: Leprosy is the least contagious of the contagious diseases. The chance of picking up the infection by direct contact is very slight.

4 Officials Indicted For Cicero Riots

CHICAGO, June 6.—(U)—The police chief, two policemen and the city attorney of suburban Cicero were convicted Wednesday on charges stemming from race rioting last July.

The indictments were returned in connection with the rioting which occurred when a Negro attempted to move his family into a 20-apartment building in the all-white community of 70,000.

Nearly a score of persons were hurt and more than 100 others were arrested during the disturbances. The Negro's apartment was set afire and some of his furniture destroyed.

Police Chief Erwin Konovsky was convicted on two counts, violating the Civil Rights Statute and conspiracy. He faces a possible maximum sentence of two years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

The two policemen, Sgt. Roland Bami and Frank A. Lange, were convicted of violating the statute. They face a possible maximum punishment of one year in prison and $1,000 fine each.

Village Atty. Nicholas Berkos faces a similar punishment on his conviction of conspiracy.

The defendants had been accused of depriving Harvey E. Clark Jr., 29-year-old Negro bus driver, of his civil rights by failing to keep crowds from interfering with his efforts to move into the apartment he had rented.

Sunday School Lesson

By ROY L. SMITH

In nothing has human ingenuity displayed itself more graphically than its multiplication of techniques of thievery.

One hundred years ago stealing was a crime committed against one's neighbors—those within easy reach. Today it is possible for a man to steal half way round the world at the same time he is fleeing from those who may actually sit at his dinner table as his guests.

Might Have Happened

The story appeared in one of the world's most popular magazines a year or two ago concerning a doctor who was hurrying to a hospital in the hope of saving a boy's life. The case was a critical one, and he was the only surgeon that might save the lad's life.

As he drove at high speed down a highway he was flagged down by a pedestrian who took the car away from him at the point of a gun. No appeal of the surgeon could move him.

A little later he was able to persuade another motorist to drive him to the hospital, but he arrived a few minutes too late. The little boy was dead. Beside the bed stood the man who had taken his car from him, and the nurse said, "Dr. B. . . I want you to meet the boy's father." And to the man with the gun she said, "This is the doctor who might have saved his life if he had been able to get here in time." When the eyes of the two men met each one recognized the other.

It always happens that when we rob other people we steal something from ourselves.

Modern Theft

When life is made subject to technology it is also made subject to so many other things.

The city of Chicago was victimized on a huge scale by a ring of crooks who sold horsemeat to scores of restaurants who bought it either ignorantly or carelessly. In order to make the scheme work public officials had to be bribed, truck drivers had to be subsidized, phony labels had to be printed, and government stamps counterfeited.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for June 8: "Persons and Property," Exodus 20:15; Luke 16:1-12; 19:1-10, 45-46.

Such a long distance intervened between the slaughter house and the eating house, and so many hands handled the meat—or the records.

A hazard like that is a part of the price we pay for having developed our technology to the point we have. Every step in the process provides some thief with an opportunity.

Lost Sense of Responsibility

Modern society cannot long survive without a strong sense of social responsibility. Every man's life, every day, depends upon the integrity of thousands of other men he has never seen.

The worker or the manufacturer who steals because he cannot be caught is as much an enemy of a secret government as any Communist agent could be. No democracy will fail because of the assaults which fall upon it from without, but because of the betrayals to which it is subjected from within.

There is a vast need for a solemn and insistent teaching of the doctrine of personal responsibility, in which the home, the church, and the school must share. We have organizations which undertake to protect our civil rights; we need something to teach us our social responsibilities, for there can be no maintenance of rights without the assumption of responsibility.

It is precisely at this point that labor and management need some careful education if the nation is to survive.

Christian Year Is Marked by Trinity Sunday

Festival Culminates Long Development of Christian Theology

By REV. SANFORD LINDSEY (Written for the Record-Herald)

The Festival of Trinity is the culmination of the Christian's progress through the Christian year, which observes the Life of Christ and the great events and acts of God in history.

This Festival is the culmination of the development of Christian theology - the final statement of Christian Faith that God who is One God, is also, according to the Scripture, the eternal Son.

The Nicene creed, the first universal creed of the Universal Christian Church, affirms that God, the Son, is eternal with His Father (begotten, not made) and "of one substance" with Him, that He is "Very God of Very God" (very meaning 'true') and that the Holy Spirit, as Lord and life-giver, proceeds from the Father, and with Him and the Son is to be "worshipped and glorified" in equal dignity and rank. (See St. John 1:1-18, 14:1, Philippians 2:6-11, Colossians 1:15-20, and Hebrews 1:1-19.)

This doctrine of the Trinity is a "hard saying" for many people and needs careful and prayerful consideration by all Christian people.

Christians seldom give serious consideration to it, and yet the majority of Christian bodies accept the doctrine of the Trinity as part of the faith of the Church.

People often say "we want religion and not theology" but there is no religion without theology. For theology is the "knowledge of God" (Webster). And how shall we have a religion without the "knowledge of God"?

So the Church, down through the centuries, has discovered that God's power and revelation was experienced in actual life of men in these distinct relationships: the Father-Creator; the Son-Redeemer and the Holy Spirit; the Life-Giver and Comforter. Each of these experiences is a revelation by which Christians are in distinct touch with God Himself, a God who is one, not three. So it is, that in the experience of generations of men since the time of Jesus Christ, the mystery is understandable through Faith. For what man is there who can presume to know the Mind of God? But the fact is that devout Christians from the very beginnings of Christendom have been able to say with faith and devotion:

"First, I learn to believe in God the Father, who hath made me and all the world.

"Secondly, in God the Son, who hath redeemed me, and all mankind.

"Thirdly, in God the Holy Spirit, who sanctifieth me, and all the people of God.

"And this Holy Trinity, One God, I praise and magnify, saying,

"Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost;

"As it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be

"World without end. AMEN."

George Clementson, Jr., To Preach Here Sunday

A member of the First Presbyterian Church here is coming back Sunday, not as a member of the congregation, but to occupy the pulpit and deliver the sermon at the morning worship service.

He is George Clementson, Jr., who was graduated with honors from the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., May 26.

While he lived in Washington C. H., he was active in church work, especially among the young people. He taught a Sunday school class, too.

Following the Sunday morning service, the women of the church have arranged for a coffee hour in the church house next door. The purpose of the informal reception, it was said, is to provide an opportunity for the renewal of old friendships and the making of new ones. The entire congregation is to be invited.

Before entering the ministry, he had completed his regular college course, a prerequisite for theological training, and had served with the armed forces during the second World War.

He was recommended by the church here to the Columbus Presbytery for the ministry.

While still a student at the seminary in Louisville, he served as the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Grayville, Ind. He drove to and from his school to conduct the services on week ends.

Rev. Harold J. Braden, the pastor of the church here, said he had heard him and described him as "an outstanding and very forceful speaker."

He has been called to the Oakwood Presbyterian Church in Dayton, where he is to serve as associate pastor.

He has been licensed to preach by the Columbus Presbytery and is to be ordained as a minister in the near future.

There is one problem you - as head of your family - are postponing. It's the choice of a burial estate. But what sense it makes to settle this problem in advance of need, to make sure that the location in an established, traditional cemetery and the monument erected there meets with the approval of all your family.

Walcott Keeps His Boxing Title

Unanimous Decision Is Awarded Old Man Of Ring Over Charles

PHILADELPHIA, June 6—A $1 million shot with either undefeated Rocky Marciano or Harry (Kid) Matthews appeared to be the next move ahead for fabulous Jersey Joe Walcott as he celebrated his second straight victory over Ezard Charles.

Midnight almost struck for the 38-year-old Cinderella man of the ring but he came on with a mild rally in the last round of a tame fight to win a unanimous decision in Municipal Stadium here Thursday night.

Old Jersey, making the first defense of the crown he knocked from Charles' brow last July, thought he won by a wide margin. He was happy about the whole thing.

"This ought to show them that I didn't win the first time by a lucky punch," said Walcott. "I hope this settles the matter."

While the once poverty-stricken Negro accepted congratulations from a mob of well wishers, Manager Felix Boechicchio began casting lines to net a golden catch for his amazing oldtimer.

PROMOTER Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club offered Walcott the choice of either Marciano, the Brockton, Mass., belter, or Matthews, the sensational Seattle contender, for another championship show in September.

This seemed to indicate that the proposed Marciano-Matthews match for New York in July would come off unless Walcott turns down a match right off with either.

Marciano and Matthews are tremendous attractions and both Norris and Boechicchio believe that a bout with either would bring in over $1 million.

Boechicchio, however, declined to commit himself immediately.

"We'll fight anyone anywhere we can get the most money," he said.

"Up to now we haven't made a dime. Maybe now that the people are convinced that Walcott is a real champion and not just a lucky old man, we'll be able to make this thing pay off."

The wheel of fortune has turned all the way for Walcott now. The muscular campaigner, who came off the relief roles to make his amazing comeback, held on to his title by capturing the last round on the scorecards of two officials. It was back in 1947 that a losing last round cost Jersey Joe the title in his first fight with Joe Louis in Madison Square Garden.

JUDGES BUCK McTiernan and Pete Tomasco scored the 15th for Walcott. That meant the difference and a unanimous decision. McTiernan, who refereed the Pittsburgh fight between the two, voted for Walcott, 8-7, Tomasco had Joe ahead, 7-6-2.

Referee Zach Clayton, first Negro ever to referee a heavyweight championship fight, gave Charles the last round but voted for Walcott, 9 to 6.

There were no knockdowns in the bout and nothing close to one. Several times Walcott appeared to have jarred Ezzzy and on a couple of occasions Charles seemed to have hurt the champion. But neither could follow up any advantage.

Charles, an 11-5 favorite, suffered a cut over his right eye which required three stitches and bruises around the other eye. Walcott bled slightly from the nose in the closing rounds.

Both Walcott and Charles said there would be no fifth fight between them.

The bout, broadcast and telecast coast to coast, attracted a crowd of 21,599 and a gross gate of $210,313. Another $175,000 was added by the television-radio money. From the total, Charles and Walcott each netted about $92,000 on their 30-30 split.

NEW McCormick 6-ft. Harvester-Thresher

Saves down and tangled crops . . . separates grain completely . . . speeds your harvest

Here's a big-capacity, straight-through combine that picks up storm-flattened crops . . . lets you save the grain in man-high weed patches without slugging the cylinder. The McCormick No. 64 is built extra strong to withstand long, continuous operation at today's faster tractor speeds.

Low-angle feeder, 64½ inches wide, keeps rank, heavy crops from balling up and clogging the cylinder.

Widest cylinder—64¼ inches—of any combine built. This six-bar, rasp-type cylinder can be operated at speeds ranging from 600 to 1600 rpm. to thresh any crop clean.

Big oversize separating unit puts grain in the bin that smaller capacity machines leave in the straw.

Combine many crops—small grains, soybeans, sorghums, legumes, and lots of others. The McCormick No. 64 Harvester-Thresher is an all-purpose combine for average-size farms.

See us for all the facts about the new No. 64 the next time you're in town.

Other No. 64 Features
• Full-width, straight-through design
• Auxiliary engine or tractor PTO driven
• Grain tank or bagger
• Sealed, self-lubricating bearings
• One-piece all-steel straw rack

Slugfest and Shutout Mark Softball Games

Thursday's softball games had a little bit of everything from a slugfest in the first game to a one-hit shutout in the nightcap. The VFW dropped Greenfield, 1 to 0, behind the one-hit pitching of Harry Strawser.

In the Industrial League the base paths looked more like a merry-go-round as the Armo boys beat the Eagles, 14 to 11.

The first game was called at the end of five innings because the time had run out. The first game time limit is 8:30 P. M.

Armo had its big inning in the fifth when eight runs were scored on three hits and five walks. Five of the runs were scored in the third inning on five hits and one walk.

The Eagles scored in every inning except the second. They came to bat in the fifth inning behind six runs and with the aid of six walks they scored three runs but still lacked three to tie the ball game.

Shaffer got three hits for three times at bat for the winners, including a triple.

boys couldn't hit Strawser's curves and fast balls as he set down 15 of them on strikes. Strawser faced only 22 batters.

Strawser also got a single in the third inning for a perfect night, making two for two.

Champion Team Back To Meet Frenchmen

The Champion Paper Co. softball team of Hamilton came back to Washington C. H. for its second visit of the season to meet the Webster C. French outfit of the Fast League at Wilson Field Friday night.

The Champions edged the Woodmen, 3 to 2, in the season's opener here last month.

Now they have a chance to avenge the defeat handed them by the Frenchmen last fall in the state tournament here.

They come here for Friday night's game boasting three wins in four games with the Champion Paper Co. team of Canton, N. C. They played a doubleheader at Hamilton last Saturday night and the home team won both ends of it. Thursday night, they met for two more games and broke even.

The Hamilton aggregation is scheduled to leave for July 1 for Florida where they are to meet some of the best teams in the south.

BILLY DUNLAP, regarded as one of the top softball shortstops of Ohio, will be missing from the Champion lineup for at least three weeks as the result of injuries received in a hot-mix machine accident Thursday night after the twin bill with the South Carolina team.

The members of the Hamilton

Champion team start the regular work on the night shift for the company following their games.

That is one of the reasons why the game here Friday night will be started right on the dot at 8 P. M., directors of the program said. They explained that the Hamilton team would have to avoid delay in starting back in order to get to work on time.

Incidentally, the Champions were the runners-up in the state tournament played here last fall. The Ohio title was won then by the General Fireproofing Co. team from Youngstown.

8 Colts Due For Test In Lush Belmont

NEW YORK, June 6—(P)—Trainers of eight classy three-year-old colts are expected to trek to the secretary's office Friday at Belmont Park and plank down the $1,000 starting fee on a gamble that might bring them back a cool $84,000 Saturday.

Eight horses, headed by the flashy Blue Man from Arthur W.

Abbott's White Oak stable, seemed the maximum for the mile and one-half "test of the champion." But if only six start in this 84th Belmont, the purse will hit a new record high. With eight facing the starter Saturday the purse would total $120,500.

Others expected for the Belmont are Isidor Bieber's King Jolie, Armageddon from the Cain Hoy Stable of Harry Guggenheim, the Myhelyn Stable's Master Fiddle, Golden Gloves from William Woodward's Belair stud, Fed W. Hooper's English-bred Olympic, and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' One Count.

The Arctic Ocean has a low salt content compared with other seas because of the many American and Asian rivers flowing into it.

Features at the Theaters

Opening at the State Theater, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday is a double feature in color.

The first is "Rodeo" starring Jane Nigh, John Archer, Wallace Ford and Frances Rafferty.

The second feature is "Oklahoma Annie" with Judy Canova and John Russell. It tells of a western town with plenty of gambling and cheating going on, and how Judy Canova captures one of the toughest outlaws of the town.

Coming Wednesday and Thursday is "Target Unknown" with "The Groom Wore Spurs" on the same bill.

"Target Unknown" tells of an American B-26 bomber crew shot down over enemy territory and how Nazi interrogating officers proceed to extract bits of information from the Americans. In the show are Mark Stevens, Alex Nicol and Robert Douglas.

The other feature, "The Groom Wore Spurs" is a comedy about a cowboy who marries a woman lawyer and from the result of the marriage he runs into a series of hilarious situations. Jack Carson, Ginger Rogers and Joan Davis star in the show.

Closing the week on Friday and Saturday is the show "Night Stage To Galveston" with Gene Autry. A cartoon, "Scout Fellow" and the serial, "Captain Video" will also be shown.

In "Night Stage To Galveston" there is much corruption in the Texas State Police and Autry plays the role of an ex-ranger who tries to stop the corruption.

County Roads To Be Fixed

Summer Repair Work Begins on Six Lanes

Fayette County's annual summer road repair program got underway Thursday with fair skies and warm temperatures sending the crews out in their trucks to start resurfacing work on a number of lanes.

According to County Engineer, Charles Wagner, about a half a dozen roads in Jefferson and Paint Township will be the targets of the road crews for the next few weeks at least.

He listed the roads as follows: Wildwood, Wesley Chapel, Carrs Mill and Jamestown, Pleasant View and Upper Jamestown.

Wagner said traffic would be maintained over the roads although drivers should be careful to look out for road crews and oiled surfaces.

Down in another section of the county, the bridge over Compton Creek on the New Holland-Good Hope Road is still being fixed.

Traffic is also being maintained there, he said, although cars have to proceed rather slowly.

The workers on the bridge are putting in new concrete abutments.

Potato Control Ends

ceilings while Congress threshed it out.

The Senate vote was on an amendment to a bill extending the economic controls law beyond the June 30 expiration date.

The amendment would discontinue price controls over fresh fruits and vegetables. Only white potato prices would be affected.

OPS made the price ceiling on potatoes effective Jan. 20, after a rise dating from September that almost doubled the price. It has been criticized by growers' associations and congressmen from potato growing states. Growers said the price ceiling forced potatoes into the black market, creating a shortage and leading to higher prices.

Postal Workers Here Get Delayed Checks

After nearly a week's delay, Washington C. H. and Fayette County postal workers received their paychecks for the last period of May this morning.

The delay in pay was caused by a nationwide shortage in U. S. post office funds that was erased when President Truman signed a special appropriation bill Thursday.

News that the payroll was coming through did not reach Washington C. H. employees until Friday morning, but according to Emmett Passmore, postmaster here, that news "made 37 boys in the office very happy."

The pay checks the post office men got this morning were supposed to have been passed out Monday, but were held up even though it was fairly certain the emergency Congressional appropriation would come through.

Passmore said he actually had word of the break in the freeze on payroll funds from the Cincinnati regional post office late Thursday afternoon, but that it was too late in the day to hand out the checks.
